REST IN PEACE STEVE

Steve Schlesselmann passed away peacefully on December 19, 2014 at the age of 59 years old and went to his reward. He is survived by his mother Anne Marie, brother and sister-in-law John and Lisa, brother Msgr. Gregory, sister and brother-in-law Carolyn and James Todd and his sister Barbara Purcell. Keep his family in your prayers during this time of loss. Steve was born in San Francisco. Few years after he graduated from Berkley with a BA in Accounting, he moved to Santa Barbara due to his love for the outdoors and the coast and mild weather. He spent the last 15 years here where he served in multiple positions including Grand Knight and District Deputy with the Knights of Columbus Council 5300. Steve also volunteered for St. Vincent De Paul Society and the Adult Literacy Program. He enjoyed geology, hiking and sightseeing around the state. He was an avid Sports fan, favoring the 49ers' and the Giants.

CHAPTER FOUR GOD PREPARES A CITY FOR THEM (CF. HEB 11:16) FROM POPE FRANCIS' ENCYCLICAL LIGHT OF FAITH

Consolation and strength amid suffering

Writing to the Christians of Corinth about his sufferings and tribulations, Saint Paul links his faith to his preaching of the Gospel. In himself, he sees fulfilled the passage of Scripture, which reads: "I believed, and so I spoke" (2Cor 4:13). The reference is to a verse of Psalm 116, in which the psalmist exclaims: "I kept my faith, even when I said, 'I am greatly afflicted'" (v. 10). To speak of faith often involves speaking of painful testing, yet it is precisely in such testing that Paul sees the most convincing proclamation of the Gospel, for it is in weakness and suffering that we discover God's power, which triumphs over our weakness and suffering. The apostle himself experienced a dying, which would become life for Christians (cf. 2Cor 4:7-12). In the hour of trial faith brings light, while suffering and weakness make it evident that "we do not proclaim ourselves; we proclaim Jesus Christ as Lord" (2Cor 4:5). The eleventh chapter of the Letter to the Hebrews concludes with a reference to those who suffered for their faith (cf. Heb 11:35-38); outstanding among these was Moses, who suffered abuse for the Christ (cf. v. 26). Christians know that suffering cannot be eliminated, yet it can have meaning and become an act of love and entrustment into the hands of God who does not abandon us; in this way, it can serve as a moment of growth in faith and love. By contemplating Christ's union with the Father even at the height of his sufferings on the cross (cf. Mk 15:34), Christians learn to share in the same gaze of Jesus. Even death is illumined and can be experienced as the ultimate call to faith, the ultimate "Go forth from your land" (Gen 12:1), the ultimate "Come!" spoken by the Father, to whom we abandon ourselves in the confidence that he will keep us steadfast even in our final passage. Nor does the light of faith make us forget the sufferings of this world. How many men and women of faith have found mediators of light in those who suffer! So it was with Saint Francis of Assisi and the leper, or with Blessed Mother Teresa of Calcutta and her poor. They understood the mystery at work in them. In drawing near to the suffering, they were certainly not able to eliminate all their pain or to explain every evil. Faith is not a light, which scatters all our darkness, but a lamp, which guides our steps in the night and suffices for the journey. To those who suffer, God does not provide arguments, which explain everything; rather, his response is that of an accompanying presence, a history of goodness, which touches every story of suffering and opens up a ray of light. In Christ, God himself wishes to share this path with us and to offer us his gaze so that we might see the light within it. Christ is the one who, having endured suffering, is "the pioneer and Perfector of our faith" (Heb 12:2). Suffering reminds us that faith's service to the common good is always one of hope — a hope which looks ever ahead in the knowledge that only from God, from the future which comes from the risen Jesus, can our society find solid and lasting foundations. In this sense faith is linked to hope, for even if our dwelling place here below is wasting away, we have an eternal dwelling place which God has already prepared in Christ, in his body (cf. 2Cor 4:16-5:5). The dynamic of faith, hope and charity (cf. 1Th 1:3; 1Cor 13:13) thus leads us to embrace the concerns of all men and women on our journey towards that city "whose architect and builder is God" (Heb 11:10), for "hope does not disappoint" (Rom 5:5). In union with faith and charity, hope propels us towards a sure future, set against a different horizon with regard to the illusory enticements of the idols of this world yet granting new momentum and strength to our daily lives. Let us refuse to be robbed of hope, or to allow our hope to be dimmed by facile answers and solutions, which block our progress.
