

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

COUNCIL 1684

SEPTEMBER - OCTOBER 2021

GRAND KNIGHT'S REPORT – AUGUST 11, 2021

Fellow brother Knights, it's with a fairly, humble heart that I write my first report to our council. I say, fairly, because humility is one of the most difficult virtues to cultivate, and for myself it's definitely work in progress.

So far, this has been a banner week for the Knight's. We had another great meeting on Wednesday evening, August 11, in Jacque's shop, and as mentioned in the minutes, there were six officers present as we dove into our discussions of upcoming events and opportunities. During that meeting I mentioned three Saints who have recently been important to me: St. Ignatius, St. John of the Cross, and St. Therese (Little Flower), but also important to me, who I left out at the meeting, Father Michael McGivney, whose feast day happens to be August 11! Inspired by this and by the fact that today the Knight's will be doing what we do best, working in service with our local Parish and BBQing for up to 125 people, joining together honoring those volunteers who helped the Old Mission get through the long painful period of the Virus pandemic. We should all be very thankful for the rock of our faith and the Church guiding us through safe protocols and good judgement to where we are today. Our best mission as Knights going forward is working to support our parishes and communities as we slowly find our new normal and return to our charitable work, but with a fresh purpose.

Saint Therese had many names, which she treasured to assume. Officially, St. Therese of the child Jesus, who Pope Benedict XV declared, practiced heroic faith, hope, love, and all other virtues, on August 14, 1921; proclaimed her Venerable, 100 years ago, tomorrow. I like the name, Therese of the Little Way. "La Petite Voie."

In honor of Father Michael McGivney, our founder's feast day, let us pray for his Canonization, as Apostle of Christian family life, Builder of Catholic Fraternity, and Exemplar of Charity.

Siempre Adelante! Viva Jesus!

Respectfully, WGK James Garland

Editor's Comment

My apologize to our officers and brother Knights for failing to compose and mail the July-August issue of our Council's bulletin. On the last week of June my ten-year-old Hewlett-Packard desktop computer crashed hardware wise, leaving me in the dilemma of having to replace it with a new machine. Note that if you dislike the term 'machine' feel free to change it with the word 'hardware.' For myself being at the age of 80, buying a new computer has no real pleasure. Even at this age buying a new car no longer has any real pleasure.

I made the decision to replace my old broken-down computer with another desktop machine, this new machine operating with Microsoft's Windows 10. My old computer used

Windows 7, a computer system that I became attached through ten years of its existence. Fortunately, the two hard drives were salvaged. While this new machine offers me faster execution speed, newer software, and more memory storage, it has placed me in the position of having to adapt to a different operating system, extensively different in philosophy than my 2010 machine. And yes, I recently was informed that Microsoft will soon release Windows 11, Windows 10 becoming history.

I'm blessed in one way since Microsoft still supports a software product called Publisher. I've found Publisher is an excellent product for editing bulletins, such as this bulletin, having used it for more than 10 years, both on K of C bulletins as well as other clubs.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD TARGETS OUR LOCAL CATHOLIC SCHOOLKIDS

Satan never sleeps: the day after Pentecost Sunday, Planned Parenthood opened a new facility in a heavily Catholic and Hispanic area of Oxnard, in the midst of Catholic parishes and schools.

PP has always targeted minority communities and neighborhoods. Its foundress, Margaret Sanger, was a white supremacist who used a racial slur against Hispanics and said Catholics shouldn't be allowed to "breed," as if we were animals.

An Oxnard-area pro-life leader says the new facility is only one block from St. Anthony Church and Elementary School, two blocks from Santa Clara High, five blocks from E.O. Green Junior High, and six blocks from Hueneme High School. What's more, Mary Star of the Sea Catholic Church is just a few blocks away.

Local pro-lifers immediately called upon parents and other citizens, including the Knights of Columbus, to come pray and picket at the new PP branch, which is not only targeting our Catholic children but also thumbing its nose at our Church.

Pro-lifers brought in nationally known anti-PP leader Jim Sedlak to meet with them and other concerned citizens. At the local Knights hall, he warned his audience about PP's aims and methods. He also taught them proven ways to counter the abortion giant's influence and protect their kids and grandkids from its agenda of sexual immorality and abortions.

Citizens, including Knights, are continuing to pray and picket at the new PP center, which is open three days a week. The public reaction has been positive. "So many nice people out there," says one of the organizers.

"There is something for everyone to do, no matter what," she adds. "Not getting involved is not an option at this point. BE PRAYING Where GOD Wants You in This Fight"!!!

Have you asked the Holy Spirit and His Spouse, our Blessed Mother, to show you what they want you to do to save our children and grandchildren from PP? An extremely effective way is simply to pray with others in front of their centers. PP's internal documents have revealed that anytime pro-lifers are out front, a whopping 75 percent of the center's clients cancel their abortion appointments!

Why not give it a try? Catholics are praying the Rosary and the Chaplet of Mercy in front of PP of Santa Barbara (518 Garden Street) Monday through Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. For details, call or text Gisela Cooper at (805) 886-3732..

MILITARY CHAPLAIN'S CAUSE FOR SAINTHOOD ADVANCES

FATHER JOSEPH VERBIS LAFLEUR IS ONE OF SEVERAL KNIGHTS ON PATH TO CANONIZATION.

Story by Andrew Fowler

6/28/2021

The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops voted June 17 to advance the cause of canonization for 1st Lt. Father Joseph Verbis Lafleur, a World War II military chaplain, prisoner of war and a Knight of Columbus whose courageous witness in the Pacific theater of the war brought many souls to Christ.

Stationed in the Philippines, Father Lafleur was offered a chance to escape when the Japanese invaded in 1941. When he found out his unit, the 19th Bombardment Group, would not be leaving too, he replied firmly, "Then I shall stay here. My place is with the men."

Father Lafleur would spend more than two years as a prisoner of war; he died in 1944 helping his fellow POWs evacuate a torpedoed Japanese prison boat. For his service throughout the war, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, a Purple Heart and Bronze Star.

COURAGEOUS WITNESS

Joseph Verbis Lafleur was ordained a priest April 2, 1938, at 26 years old, and in 1941, he answered the call to join the military as a chaplain. While stationed in Albuquerque, N.M., Father Lafleur's commander noticed his exceptional performance. The young chaplain's next posting was to Clark Field, a U.S. Army airfield in the Philippines.

Eight hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, Japanese planes bombed Clark Field, destroying almost every American plane parked wingtip-to-wingtip on the strip. Ninety-three men were killed and 143 wounded.

Father Lafleur ministered to the wounded and dying, exposing himself to bullets and shrapnel to give absolution and help doctors administer medical care. Col. E.L. Eubank of the Army Air Force witnessed Father LaFleur's actions and recommended him to receive the Distinguished Service Cross, the second-highest military honor. The citation reads, "First Lieutenant LaFleur's intrepid actions, personal bravery and zealous devotion to duty exemplify the highest traditions of the military forces of the United States and reflect great credit upon himself, the 5th Air Force and the United States Army Air Forces."

The 19th Bombardment Group was later attacked by Japanese planes while evacuating to another island by ship. Father Lafleur crawled through a hail of bullets to rescue a wounded officer on deck. He was the last man on the boat after assisting with the evacuation of the other soldiers. After U.S. and Philippine forces surrendered to the Japanese following the Battle of Bataan, Father Lafleur and the rest of the 19th Bombardment Group were captured. The military chaplain spent the rest of his life as a POW.

A SAINT IN PRISON

Father Lafleur bounced from prison camp to prison camp until arriving at the Davao Penal Colony in October 1942, where he worked beside his fellow POWs in the rice fields and helped them in any way he could. He sneaked into the compound hospital to tend to sick prisoners. He shared his food with the sick and wounded, and even traded his watch and eyeglasses for food and medicine. He refused medicine for himself, even during bouts with malaria, saying someone else needed it more.

Even more important, Father Lafleur continued to be a spiritual leader. He personally constructed a chapel out of bamboo and wood named The Chapel of St. Peter in Chains and celebrated Mass each morning before the men headed out to work. One soldier recalled that Father Lafleur conserved the wine for consecration by using a medicine dropper

Father Lafleur's witness had a tremendous impact: Nearly 200 American prisoners converted to Catholicism because of his influence.

Bill Lowe was one of the men who converted. His interest in Catholicism began after Father Lafleur helped evacuate others into lifeboats before the American-Philippine surrender. He saw in the military chaplain “something that I wished I had,” adding that “his demeanor was so convincing that this led me to pursue to become a Catholic.” If there ever was a saint, Father Lafleur was one,” Lowe would later write.

‘I WILL BE WITH YOU’

Father Lafleur’s sense of duty led him to volunteer to take the place of a POW bound for a Japanese airstrip in Lasang, Philippines. He did this despite being physically weak due to lack of food.

Before he left for Lasang in March 1944, Father Lafleur wrote a final message to his family on the label of a can of milk. It read in part, “I do not have to go, but if I didn’t and something would happen, I would never go back to the States as I could never face any of you again. I would feel as though I had not done my duty.”

While at Lasang, Father Lafleur continued to inspire the prisoners with his acts of courage. In one instance, Japanese guards with bayonets surrounded Father Lafleur and other POWs during his daily rosary service. A guard kept the bayonet at the military chaplain’s stomach. Father Lafleur didn’t move except to make the sign of the cross. Eventually, tensions subsided and the guards left.

As American forces advanced, the Japanese decided to move the prisoners to mainland Japan. Father Lafleur and hundreds of POWs were loaded into a ship — the Shinyo Maru — which had no white flag to denote it was carrying prisoners.

Without that signal, it became a target for Allied forces. On Sept. 7, 1944, the Shinyo Maru was torpedoed by the USS Paddle. During the attack, Father Lafleur led his fellow prisoners in the ship’s hold in praying the rosary.

Suddenly, the hatch was opened. Father Lafleur began evacuating the prisoners as the Japanese threw grenades into the hold. Other prisoners were shot on deck as they tried to dive into the water. Only 82 prisoners out of hundreds survived.

Father Lafleur was not one of them. He was last seen standing near the ladder trying to help others escape.

As he wrote in his final message, “If I am not [here], I will be with you anyway and I will have a reserve seat up in Heaven. I am sure Our Lord will let me roll back just one little cloud so I can look down. And from up there I will have a more beautiful view and a more perfect understanding of what is going on.”

Father Lafleur, a member of Council 2281 in Abbeville, La., is one of many Knights who are either canonized or on the path to sainthood.

Colorado Knights Provide Clean Water in Africa

A fundraising project is helping to improve sanitary conditions in the capital city of the Democratic Republic of Congo

The 800 parishioners of St. Leo the Great in Kinshasa, the capital city of the Democratic Republic of Congo, now have access to clean water and latrines thanks to the charitable efforts of a Knights of Columbus council halfway across the world.

The “Building a Wellspring of Hope” project began after Father Henri Tshibambe — pastor at Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church in Lakewood, Colo. — approached the Knights at his parish for assistance. The priest had recently reconnected with a friend from seminary, Father D’jim Lumu Mutombo, pastor at St. Leo the Great. During their conversation, Father D’jim described the unsanitary conditions of the parish and how he was ill-equipped to raise the necessary funds to provide clean water.

“When Father Henri approached me and said there was a parish in the Congo with no water and no latrine facilities. I was struck immediately with how much we take our amenities for granted,” said John Pickard, grand knight of Our Lady of Fatima Council 9597. “He asked for $5,000 and I thought, sure, no problem — we could help raise that.”

Coincidentally, Richard Phillips, a member of the council, had prior experience with international engineering thanks to his work while as a project manager at New Mexico State University (NMSU). Phillips was selected to lead the initiative. He went to work, recruiting colleagues from NMSU and Congolese architect, Alex Mulemangabo, to help with the project. However, it soon dawned on the team that the task would be a larger undertaking than initially anticipated.

“It was clear that $5,000 was not going to be enough to provide them with assistance for both the well and latrines,” Phillips said. “It’s in a poor neighborhood. It’s land that’s been poorly taken care of, through erosion and other things, and so, there was no money there to do this project.”

The estimated cost for a well with a hand pump and latrines was $15,000, but the team wanted to also provide St. Leo the Great with a solar power system and a new gravity feed water pressure system to improve the sustainability of the parish’s sanitary conditions. The latter system would consist of an elevated water storage tank to push water through the pipes to the faucets. In total, the project would cost $20,000. To raise the necessary funds, the council established a GoFundMe webpage and led an awareness campaign at Our Lady of Fatima Church. After only 18 days, the donation total exceeded $25,000.

“It’s been really nice to see the response among the Knights and the parishioners,” Phillips said. “It’s a good example of how we’re all connected and all God’s people. It’s exactly what Pope Francis is trying to teach us — that we’re all brothers and sisters. It’s been a rewarding project that I’m glad to be part of it.”

By late April 2021, Mulemangabo, with assistance from local contractors, began drilling the well and constructing the latrines that are now flowing and operational. A few weeks later, the solar system was installed. Father D’jim expressed that the people of St. Leo the Great Parish will “never cease to thank you for the glory of God on everything you do” in a message to the council.

“It is true happiness to be able to serve their needs, to bring some comfort to their lives,” Pickard said. “I love Mother Teresa’s quote: ‘Faith in action is service, service in action is love.’ It is a true gift from God that we are able to share some love from so far away.”
